

What sorts of feedback do you use?

Kinds of feedback	I/We use this a lot	I/We use this sometimes	I/We don't use this	I/We might consider using this
1. Handwritten comments on work
2. Word-processed front sheets about work
3. Handwritten front sheets attached to work
4. Assignment reports about the overall work for a group
5. Matrix showing what's expected for each grade band
6. Code numbers written onto assignment, with translation menu
7. Face-to-face debriefing about an assignment with the whole group in a lecture
8. Small-group explanation e.g. in a tutorial or seminar
9. One-to-one face-to-face chat with the lecturer concerned
10. Informal chats with lecturers in corridors
11. Individual emails from lecturers
12. Emails sent to the whole group about common strengths and weaknesses in an assignment
13. Posting about the assignment on the virtual learning environment discussion board
14. Just a mark on work, and no comments
15. Just the feedback and no mark, then being asked to self-assess marks using the criteria
16. Feedback from fellow-students in the context of peer-assessment
17. Feedback from fellow-students informally
18. Feedback from friends or relatives informally
19. Feedback gained for the individual by comparing work with examples on the web
20. Feedback gained by the individual by comparing work informally with fellow-students work before submission of an assignment
21. Feedback gained by self-assessing the individual's work against the assessment criteria prior to submitting work
22. Feedback gained from the lecturer on the self-assessment of the work at the point of submission				